

All GUIs have an implied direct path to the main display.

It's unclear whether log files need to be available to the operator during the mission, so these GUIs may be unnecessary.